—Shopping Suggestions.

Very new and smart are the belts of patent leather cut into slender straps and showing leather of bluish contrasting hue with which the belt is lined. In green or scarlet, with the black shining patent leather, the effect is particularly good.

Walking skirts in covert, to accompany the popular tan jackets, are in high favor and a number of exceedingly attractive models are shown. The skirts and jackets come in suits, or one may buy them separately, and in either case the wearing of the two together is very good style.

The time for Easter gifts is not far distant, and enterprising shopkeepers are already offering suggestions for pretty and suitable gifts. One shop shows a number of daintily-decorated egg boxes of different sizes, from those which hold the ring she has been pining for to those which hold the generous-sized pocketbook of latest design.

French knots continue one of the most approved decorations for gowns of all descriptions, and one of the most modish linen frocks yet shown in town has hundreds of the little knots for its only decoration. The scalloped seams of the skirt, the edges of the little bolero jacket, the tiny pocket, are all outlined with bands of the French knots in white, four or five deep.

Colored handkerchiefs for women are shown in greater number and variety than ever before, and also in more conspicuous

MISS LYDIA M. MAYER

COVINGTON BELLE TO

WED LUCIEN WHEATLEY

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

COVINGTON, Ind., March 12.—Announcement has been made of the coming marriage of Miss Lydia M. Mayer, of this city, and Mr. Lucien Wheatley, a banker of Charleston, Ill., which will take place at the home of the bride on March 16.

Miss Mayer is very popular in society. She is the daughter of William Mayer, Sr., president of the Covington Banking Company. The marriage will be quiet, only members of the two families being present. An extensive wedding journey will be made.

color effects. Handkerchiefs of lavender, pink or blue, with white borders, are among the designs, but they lack the daintiness with which the white handkerchiefs with just a touch of color in the border design possess.

Fancy elastic for carters or supporters have ruffled edges and a bit of embroidery in self-color, and come in all the pretty light shades at 40 and 50 cents a yard. A pretty fancy for the girl who likes more elaboration is to cover the elastic with a shirred cover of satin ribbon ending in a frill on either side, and ornamented with an embroidered design in contrasting colors.

Personal and Social Notes.

Mrs. John H. Talbot is visiting in Terre Haute.
